HOW TO RUN IT

At the end of every job

- Walk the customer around the glass first. Get the "wow" before you hand anything over.
- Hand them the bag and say one line: "There's a thank-you in here, and two cards worth $50 off for anyone you send my way."
- Then stop talking about it. The card does the rest.

The field kit

- Yard sign goes up when you arrive, comes down when you leave. Every car on that street sees who is doing the house.
- Door hangers on the ten homes either side before you drive off. The proof is next door and still wet.
- When a referral card comes back, the Referred by line tells you who to pay. Pay it the day that job is paid.

Keep the review ask and the reward separate. The reward on the referral card is paid for sending a customer, never for writing a review. Google's policies prohibit incentivized reviews and will filter or remove them, and Yelp penalizes businesses that solicit reviews at all — which is why the Yelp code here is labelled "find us" rather than "review us". Asking every customer for an honest review, with nothing attached, is allowed and is what this card does.
